States that He Has Heard of the Organization of Vigilance and Protective Societies and Acknowledges There Is Need of Such Organizations.

Police Commissioner Bingham frankly admitted to-day that he is powerless to do any more than he has done to check the spread of crime in this city. He falls back upon the assertion that the police force is at least 1,400 men short of the number required for efficient duty. In parts of the city where there is insufficient police protection the Commissioner says it is up to the people to act as their own policemen.

"My attention," he said, "has been called to the organization of rigilance and protective committees in various sections of the city. am afraid that such organizations in some places are necessary. I have not enough policemen in the department to fully protect the city, and

I have not only ordered the policemen to prevent such crimes, but I

It is not an easy task, but I have been awake to the danger of the organization for a long time. If allowed to go on it will became a menace more to be dreaded than the Black Hand."

Concerning a resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen yesterday, asking the Police Commissioner to make a report showing what disposition he is making of his policemen, the Commissioner said he would be glad to go before the Aldermen and clear the situation.

Bat Masterson came out of retirement to win a good race in the opening dash. Following the fast pace of Barbary Belle all the way from the barrier, he came away handly in the stretch and won by half a length. Cabochon, added from the "also eligibles," was the best horse in the race. Off in the ruck, he came through the stretch, overhauling everything. In another 100 feet he would have won. Prince Ahmed, also coming from far back, was a good third, half a length away. Finn, who coming from far back, was a good third, half a length away.
